

Concerts and Things

By Eric Trilling

For those who bummed out when they heard that Chuck Berry wasn't going to appear at our last concert, the Concert Committee is trying to reconcile things by attempting to piece together another concert sometime around April 22, featuring Chuck Berry playing alongside the Kinks. Word from Berry regarding his disappearing act at our last concert, was that he landed in Montreal, but then found all routes to Plattsburgh blocked or closed by the heavy snows. Taking him at his word (and our agent's) the Concert Committee voted almost unanimously for a crack at another Berry concert. Aside from seeing him and the Kinks, there is a good chance Billy Joel will be returning with them. After the show they put on here in February, I think they alone are worth the price of admission—no slight intended since the concert is being planned as a freebee.
